Dean, School of Law
About the School of Law

IEC School of Law offers a five year integrated courses that are B.A LLB (Hons), B.com LLB (Hons), Three year Undergraduate Degree Program in Law (LLB) and One Year LLM (Company Law). The School has been set up to impart legal education to students with its well-structured courses & aims to make them aware of the legal rights & responsibilities. The School ensures that the students get a comprehensive understanding of the practical aspects of law thus acquiring legal skills. The course includes seminars, tutorial work, moot courts and practical training programmes. Legal internships provides an opportunity for students to increase their knowledge of substantive areas of law, gain exposure to a real work environment and provide valuable support to a legal employer.
Legal Education in India

In India, there are various types of degree courses for Law offered. The five-year course, BA LLB (Hons) and B.Com LLB (Hons) is available straight after high school, at an undergraduate level. Students who decide a career in law after graduation in any field can opt for the three-year LLB course and after LLB students can go for Masters Degree in Law LLM (Company Law).
For Five-Year Course

- The candidate is eligible to take all these tests if he has completed his Class 12 (High School) with a minimum of 45% marks.
- The candidate should not be more than 22 years old.

For Three-Year Course

- The candidate is expected to have completed his bachelor's degree with at least 45% marks.

After LL.B, graduates can also pursue further studies in Law. There is a Full-Time Post Graduation course – LLM., which is of one years duration. Some students also go abroad to other common law jurisdictions for further education in Law.

Enrolment with the Bar Council

After the completion of the Law Degree, a law graduate has to join a particular State Bar Council to be able to practice in the courts. This is a standard procedure for lawyers to get sanction to practice anywhere in the country.

All India Bar Examination (AIBE)

Bar Council of India has introduced the All India Bar Examination (AIBE), in order to test an advocate’s ability to practice the profession of Law in India. All students graduating need to clear the All India Bar Examination in order to practice law in the country. The test will assess candidate’s analytical abilities and basic knowledge of Law. After qualifying the exam, the candidate will be awarded “Certificate of Practice” by the Bar Council of India.
Teaching
Pedagogy
The fast changing world economy has posed a challenge to the educational institutions to constantly revamp the discourse patterns. At IEC, we strive to gain a competitive edge in this arena. Having recognized the paradigm shift taking place in the legal education to meet the aspiration of court, we conduct the programs adding suitable values to the personality of students so that student can practice in any court of India including the Apex Court (SC).

To do so IEC has adopted latest techniques in teaching methods which includes case studies, practical exercises, guest lectures to fill up the gap between court and academics, group activities to teach them how to work in court, practical exercises, and individual counseling for addressing their issues related to courts etc. The use of electronic media like PowerPoint presentations, use of internet, e-learning, mobile learning the classrooms helps students to understand the concepts better. Our students are constantly encouraged to pay attention, give towards practical experience court visit etc, and attend several guest sessions in addition to individual mentoring sessions with the faculties.

Law, the profession

Law as a profession has been among the highest paid jobs in the country since last few decades. There was a time when it was counted as a royal profession. Over the years, the glory that was attached to it might have been lost but there is no denying that the most successful lawyers are those with brilliant minds. In United States, lawyers charge money on hourly basis and not surprisingly they are the richest personalities in the country. A career in law is no longer confined to the limits of the courtroom. The opportunities today are aplenty. There are various kinds of legal practice including: Private Practice, Public Interest Law, Government Counsel and Corporate Counsel. The different branches of specializations in law are civil law, criminal law, corporate law, property law, income tax law, marine law, public international law, family law, labour law, press law, excise law, constitutional law, administration law, sale of goods law, trade mark, copyright and patent law, cyber law etc.

What the Lawyers do?

Lawyers are professionals who have studied the law. They help people with a wide range of legal matters, from incorporating companies to settling legal disputes and play a critical role in the justice system when they represent their clients involved in court cases. They counsel, strategize, problem-solve, write, advocate, negotiate — the list is endless.
